Newcastle, Ind., July 31.—Following the crusade against gambling, started a week ago, the card tables in the pool rooms and cigar stores were removed on the order of Prosecutor Evans, and the question of forbidding minors to enter poolrooms is being considered.

Mayor Barnard went into a cigar store and poolroom a few days ago and says two minors were playing pool. He immediately ordered the proprietor to stop the game and to permit no more minors to play.

NORTH ATLANTIC FLEET PLAYS WAR

Sails into Cape Cod Bay in a Body This Morning.

Vessels and Men to be Kept Busy in Tactical Maneuvers—Novelty on Program—Officers Exchange Visits.

Provincetown, Mass., July 31.—Stocked with supplies and ordnance, on a war basis, and with decks cleared for action, the North Atlantic fleet, under command of Rear Admiral Oosterhaus sailed into Cape Cod bay from this harbor at 10 a. m. today in a body, to engage in the summer maneuvers.

It is unusual for the fleet to take to the bay in its entirety. The thousands of summer guests will be treated to an impressive naval picture on the ships of the various divisions, dreadnaughts, battleships, cruisers, torpedo boats and submarines, get underway.

Every ship got orders Sunday night to be prepared to sail at 7:30, but they did not haul their mud books for two hours after that. Today will be devoted to the tactical maneuvers. The schedule shows that men and ships will be kept busy. The program will include a novelty in that blank torpedoes are to be shot from one battleship at another instead of into nets as is the custom on ranges, thus making this branch of practice more realistic and interesting.

There was an exchange of visits among the five rear admirals and other officers Sunday. The town was swarming with the men from the ships. Crowds attended the ball games on Evans field. Hundreds of visitors were carried out to the ships in all sorts of small craft.

The battleship Maine, making fourteen in that division, arrived after dark from New York. C. R. Nelson, a seaman, died at 5:30 p. m. while the Maine was bound here from New York.

BODY OF FORMER YPSI WOMAN TO BE BROUGHT HERE

The remains of Mrs. Helen Batwell Stephens, who died at her home in New York City the middle of June will be brought Wednesday morning at 8:30 to Ypsilanti for interment in Highland cemetery. There will be no service here. Mrs. Stephens was the oldest daughter of Dr. Edward Batwell, prominent in Ypsilanti some years ago. Mrs. Stephens left this city over twenty years ago. She had no children.

All drivers are hereby warned that vehicles must be kept to the right hand side of the street in compliance with the city ordinance and that in stopping, vehicles must be brought to the curb on the right hand. Auto drivers are especially warned against fast driving around corners, and against exceeding the city s. e. e. limit.

FIRE IN BROCKTON, MASS.

$200,000 Damage Is Done When Salakett Block Burns.

Brockton, Mass., July 31.—This city was given a fire scare when Salakett block, situated in the heart of the business section, was burned. It looked like an ordinary fire when the department got to work, but the explosion of ammonia tanks in a cold storage plant in the basement of the building blew three firemen from the windows and thirty more were overcome by the fumes. With the force thus depleted and the brick structure belching forth flames from every opening, aid was summoned from Boston, Quincy, Stoughton, Avon, Rockland and Taunton. For some time the fumes kept everyone at a distance.

Meantime the fire raged through the structure and communicated to a two and a half story lodging house in the rear and destroyed it. The Holbrook block, a four story brick structure, adjoining, also caught fire and was considerably damaged. The loss is estimated at $200,000.

M. E. MEMBERS
RAISE $50 AT RALLY
FOR THEIR PASTOR

The pastor's rally at the A. M. E. church Sunday was a grand success.

Rev. Williams preached two excellent sermons, Mayor Townner delivered a fine and appropriate address at 2:30 p. m. and enjoyable singing added much to the occasion. The collection will exceed fifty dollars for the pastor's salary.

EVENTS ENJOYED AND PLANNED BY CHURCH SOCIETIES

The churches will unite in union service in the evening during the month of August, beginning next Sunday evening. They will be held on the lawn between the Presbyterian and Baptist churches, and each church will in turn take charge of one service, preaching, music and all the features. Rev. Marshall H. Pettit, pastor of the First Baptist church, will preach at the opening service.

The Congregational church will be closed during the month of August.

The Baptist Ladies' Aid will meet with Mrs. Arnold at Dayton on Thursday. The ladies will take the 3:15 car.

The German Lutheran Ladies' society will meet Wednesday evening at 7 in the church house.

With these two exceptions, the Thursday ladies' societies will be omitted this week.

Resume of the Past Week.

The Congregational picnic held at the home of Prof. and Mrs. N. A. Harvey last Thursday was a great success. The ladies gathered about four o'clock and disposed of a small amount of business. Miss Mary Wood sang, and Mrs. P. R. Cleary read a greatly appreciated paper on the work being done in New York in religious and social welfare. The men of the church arrived in time for the supper, which was of a potluck nature and very satisfactory. A great many enjoyed Prof. Harvey's rather remarkable gardens, in which he has undertaken to raise things such as sweet potatoes and the egg plant, not generally attempted in this climate.

The concert given by the Claffin University jubilee singers at the M. E. church last Thursday evening was exceedingly well attended. The collection amounted to $47.50 in cash and $31 in pledges. The business manager for the singers remarked that Ypsilanti had surpassed some of the big Detroit churches in this regard.

The Sunday school of the German Lutheran church held a nice picnic at Prospect Park, Thursday. Ice cream, cake and lemonade were served to all, and games indulged in.

The Baptist missionary box social held at the Baptist parsonage Thursday evening was not as well attended as hoped, a fact no doubt due to the many attractions scheduled for that evening in the city. But there was much interest manifested. Each brought a box of supper, with a gift of money inside. These boxes were named for missionaries. Then each person drew a missionary's name and with it a box of supper. Items relating to missions were found also inside the boxes. About ten dollars was contributed, and more has since come in. This goes to Miss Helen Elgie who has lived in Ypsilanti in years gone by, but is now engaged in mission work in China.

LEGISLATORS TO GIVE TESTIMONY

Lorimer Committee Calls Members of Illinois Assembly.

WHITE IN WASHINGTON NOW

Lawrence B. Stringer Tells of Efforts to Hold Democrats Together in Senatorial Campaign in the Spring of 1909.

Washington, July 31.—The senate committee which is investigating charges of corruption in the election of Senator Lorimer of Illinois will this week begin unearthing the testimony of Democratic members of the Illinois legislature of 1909, who confessed receiving money for voting for Lorimer.

Charles A. White will be put on the stand. It was his confession, printed in the Chicago Tribune of April 20, 1910, which was the first publication of the charges of corruption in the Lorimer election. White had been in Washington under subpoena for some days awaiting an opportunity to testify.

Three members of the legislature—H. J. Beckenmyer, Michael S. Link, and D. W. Holstlaw—also confessed receiving money for their votes for Lorimer. Link died shortly after the election. Holstlaw is seriously ill at his home at Juka, Ill., and was not able to obey the subpoena directing him to come to Washington to testify. All three members of the legislature who confessed receiving money will appear before the committee before the taking of testimony is concluded.

The cross-examination of Lawrence B. Stringer of Lincoln, Ill., was completed by Judge E. G. Haney, counsel for Senator Lorimer. Mr. Stringer was the only Democratic senatorial candidate before the Illinois legislature in 1909. Mr. Stringer told of his efforts to hold the Democrats in line, and keep them from voting for a Republican. In reply to Senator Kenyon Mr. Stringer declined to admit that all the fifty-three Democrats who deserted him and voted for Mr. Lorimer were bribed. He said, however, that the alleged attempt to purchase fourteen Democratic votes for Albert J. Hopkins, one of the Republican candidates, cast suspicion on subsequent political deals. This alleged attempt to buy fourteen Democratic votes occurred in the latter part of January, 1909.

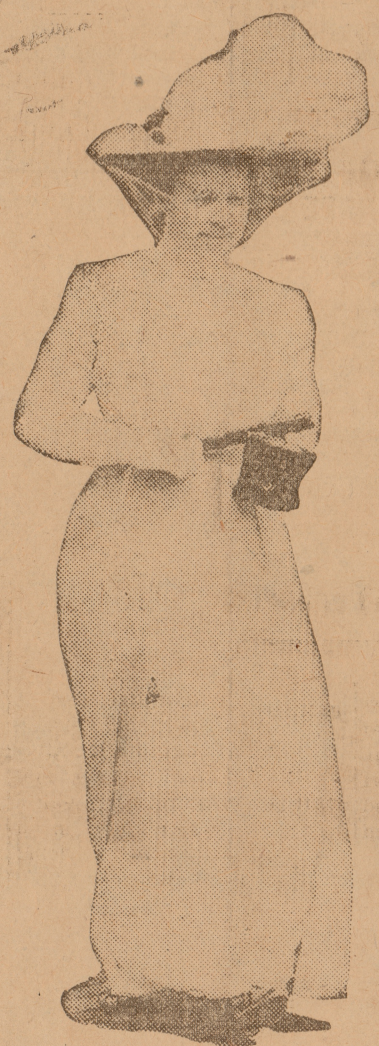

Edward O. Phillips, of the Chicago Tribune, also appeared as a witness. In January, 1909, he was the assistant legislative correspondent at Springfield for the Chicago Record-Herald. He identified an article written by him and published in the Record-Herald on 7 of that year, the day after the election of Speaker Shurtliff, to the effect that Mr. Lorimer could be elected to the senate if he wished to become a candidate. The object of his examination was to show that the election of Speaker Shurtliff by Democratic and Republican votes was the first step toward a similar bi-partisan combination which five months later elected Senator Lorimer.

CANADA TO TAKE VOTE

Will Hold Reciprocity Election in September.

Dominion Parliament Dissolved as Result of Deadlock—Action Is Surprise.

Ottawa, Ont., July 31.—The eleventh parliament of Canada passed out of existence and upon the political complexion of a new one to be elected Sept. 21 will depend the fate of the reciprocity agreement between the United States and Canada. Premier Laurier decided to ask for an immediate dissolution at a meeting of his cabinet and at once justified Earl Grey, the governor general.

A short time later a special issue of the Official Gazette was printed containing the formal announcement and giving legal effect to the act.

In both Liberal and opposition rooms the news was received with cheers and the members hurried away to telegraph their political workers that the campaign was on.

Practically every member has left the capital and the campaign on the reciprocity issue begins all over the dominion today or tomorrow.

The announcement of dissolution came as a surprise. The absolute refusal of the Conservative minority in the house to close the debate on the government's reciprocity resolution and permit a vote upon it which would mean its adoption and the improbability of a change in their attitude resulted in the government's decision that it was useless to keep parliament sitting.

Kerr, baritone, from Detroit, and by Miss Owen, violinist, and Miss Lowden, pianist. The ensemble pieces for the choir comprise a Barcarolle by Brahms for two solo contraltos (Miss Gilpin and Mrs. Gray) and four-part chorus; Max Spicker's recent arrangement for women's voices of the popular Choral ballad by Fanning, "The Miller's Wooing," with incidental baritone solo and piano accompaniment; a three-part arrangement of "The Last Rose of Summer," unaccompanied; Franz Abt's "Twilight" and as a finale Gault's "List, the Cherubine Host" with baritone solo and piano and organ accompaniment.

Miss Owen, Miss Lowden and Professor Alexander will present two new trios: a "Prayer" by the late Alexander Guilmant and the famous "Meditation" from Massenet's opera "Thais," made famous in America by the joint appearance of Mary Garden and Maurice Renaud under the Hammerstein regime. Mr. Kerr offers an operatic aria from Massenet's "Hérodiade," a group of modern French songs and the following songs in English: "I Know a Hill" by Whelpley; "She Rested by the Broken Brook" by Coleridge-Taylor; "Lassie with the Lips Sae Rosy" by Fisher.

Louis Hamilton, D. J. & C. motorman, is dead and about 50 persons are today suffering from injuries as the result of a head-on collision between two D. J. & C. cars near the Dearborn switch Sunday afternoon at about 4:50 o'clock.

The Northville local car, train No. 54, was scheduled to pass the Ann Arbor local leaving Detroit at 4 o'clock at Dearborn switch at 4:40 o'clock p. m. But the Northville car left the switch and went on to the main line, without waiting for the west-bound Ann Arbor local. The two cars telescoped on a curve near the switch.

Louis Hamilton, motorman on the Ann Arbor westbound local, broke his back in jumping from his car onto the cement road, dying within ten minutes.

Samuel Emerson, Inkster, is believed to be fatally injured internally, and with gaping wounds in his neck. Claude Pool, in the employ of Grover & Leas of this city, arrived on the scene of the accident about four minutes after it had occurred. He said in an interview this morning: "I was driving home from Detroit Sunday afternoon and must have got there about four minutes after the cars had collided, for I met the flagman on his way to take his position for flagging the next car. Both cars were completely demolished, but the car coming from Detroit was the worse. Some people had got out of the cars, but some were still in. The autos were beginning to come, but no ambulances had arrived. The trucks were off the tracks and the front ends of both cars had been thrown up and stood in the air seven or eight feet.

There is a railing beside the road, which is very narrow there—two teams can just pass. Leaning up against the railing I recognized Warren Lewis. In his excitement he had been able to get this far. I knew he had been to the races and must have a lot of money, so I thought I'd better get him away. I got him into the carriage and took him back to Dearborn to the Wagner House. We phoned to George DeMosh to come after him with an automobile, and also phoned his Ypsilanti doctor. While we waited for the auto, the doctor there examined him and found his chest hurt, and said he thought two bones in his left leg might be fractured. The doctor bandaged him up. He was out of his head, though not unconscious, but he was hurt about his head. Mr. Lewis had been sitting on the front seat of the smoker. The telescoping of the cars threw him to the back end of the car."

Mr. DeMosh said this morning: "I got to the wreck about 7:20. I wasn't at home when the message of the wreck came and did not start until six o'clock."

W. H. Lewis said this morning that Warren was coming on very well. It is now thought that no bones were actually broken, though his left leg was bruised and his chest painfully hurt.

Scott Hagggett, whose mother is Mrs. John Green of this city, was returning to Detroit, but advices from Detroit state that he was not injured.

It is reported that Mr. and Mrs. Tupper, living on Summit street, were both injured, and are in Harper hospital.

Louis Hamilton, the motorman who lost his life in the accident, is stated by the Detroit papers to have been a resident of Ypsilanti, but inquiry at the D. J. & C. office corrected this statement. When he first began work on the road Mr. Hamilton lived here for a few months. Now however he resides in Detroit and he leaves behind him a wife and a child about four years of age.

There were about 23 passengers hurt seriously enough to require hospital treatment or to be confined to their beds at home. The rest bore scars and cuts and abrasions, but went to their homes or secured accommodations for the night in Dearborn.

Seven or eight were taken to Detroit hospitals. Two were taken to St. Joseph's retreat in Dearborn.

Those in charge of the eastbound car were F. Woodin, motorman, and F. Dresselhouse, conductor. The crew on the westbound car were Louis Hamilton, motorman, and A. Woodworth, conductor. Hamilton was killed, the rest were injured.

According to passengers on the car, and to the train crew and the statement of Motorman Frank Woodin himself, Woodin became confused in his count when the special Ann Arbor cars leaving Detroit at 4:10 p. m., and running in two sections, passed him at the Dearborn switch. "I thought the third car had passed?" he said, "and pulled out."

BAD LUCK OR BAD MANAGEMENT?

The frequency with which the D. J. & C. and other electric railroads have serious accidents is forcing the question, is it simply bad luck, or is it bad management? The increasing loss of life and limb is compelling the public to take a larger and still larger control if it can in regulating such traffic. It is difficult to get at the facts often. The railroads do not want the facts known—at least the damaging facts; they naturally want to escape responsibility and liability so far as possible, but the cold, cruel, brutal facts are patent in the death and injured list, and the evidence remains long after the accident itself is forgotten.

One thing is patent, and that is that more accidents seem to occur on Sundays and legal holidays than at other times. This is natural, because the traffic seems to be larger on these days than other days. The company evidently attempts to run more cars than it ought to run. It seems, as was reported to have been the case at Ypsilanti, when the limited ran into the Baptist church, that a man was taken out of the barn who wasn't very familiar with running cars and a carload of human freight put in charge of him. It seems possible that improvised help is worked in to meet the demands of extra travel.

Strange as it may seem, although wreck after wreck occurs, people are quick to forget, and they climb into and crowd these cars on Sundays and legal holidays and other times and take these risks.

But we think that more restrictions or some greater safety appliances should be insisted upon by the state of all the transportation companies.

The Michigan Central railroad, for example, paralleling the electric line throughout nearly its entire length and probably carrying more passengers considerably, has nowhere near so many wrecks. In fact we can scarcely recall one of very serious dimensions for a number of years past in this particular section of the road. This is probably because its block signal system is efficient. The superintendent of the electric road is reported as saying that the blame is wholly upon the motorman of the Northville car, who disregarded his instructions. Well, if the electric line employs inefficient help or, for any other reason, cannot command help which it is safe to place the lives of the public in charge of, then some fool-proof device that is as good as the block signal system, or better, should be installed. These head-on collisions in broad daylight it seems to us evidence both bad luck and bad management, and, in the interests of the public which suffers most, should be regulated so as to make them practically impossible of recurrence.

The White Star line is reported as having taken the slot machines and other gambling paraphernalia from off its boats. It suffers dishonor in being compelled to do so by the force of public opinion. It would be the part of wisdom and diplomacy for other steamboat lines to allow the final course of the White Star line and not all the steps which led up to it. The Detroit News is entitled to much credit for focusing public attention to this lawlessness for a price.

The News is also doing a public service in reflecting the unfitness for public service of Justice of the Peace Teagan. But how much more consistent would this service seem to be if the News did not for a price help sell through its advertising columns liquor, which is the undoing of Justice Teagan, which robs the public of his efficiency, and him of his honor and his office in all probability. How much stronger would be the testimony of the News if, like the Detroit Times and the Toledo Blade and a growing list of other dailies, it refused to be a party to "placing the bottle to thy brother's lips." Consistency is still approved as an asset.

MONROE—The Pere Marquette Railroad company is double tracking the road between Toledo and Plymouth. They petitioned the council for permission to raise the grade at the Front street crossing from 18 to 24 inches. The common council in answer to the petition required a waiver of all damages to the Pere Marquette property, required the road to keep open during the process of elevation the track and asks a cash payment of $10,000.

DETROIT—The directors of the Michigan State Telephone Co. have declared the regular quarterly dividends of 1 1/2 per cent on the common and 1 1/2 per cent on the preferred stock.

eastbound, without waiting for the local. The collision followed. Due to Meet Limiteds.

"After the accident Woodin stated that he knew he was due to meet the limiteds and the local at this switch; he stated that in addition to this the proper signals were exchanged by him and the limiteds. The only explanation he could give was that he thought there were three cars on the switch and supposing he had met the local he pulled out of the switch and ran into the westbound local."

Hamilton, the motorman of the westbound car, entirely without blame for the accident, was killed almost instantly. He had his foot on the step, ready to jump, when the crash occurred. Had the curve been less abrupt, had the cars been running slower, had he gained another half second in any way, his life might have been spared. But the shock of the crashing cars threw him with such violence to the cement road, that his back was broken almost instantly, and his body was sent hurtling over the road, over a bank and 20 feet to the edge of a stream which passed the place. It was found when the wrecking crew arrived, more than an hour after the accident had occurred.

For a few moments, according to passengers on the cars, all were stunned. There were 39 passengers on the eastbound car, and 23 on the westbound. Hardly a man, woman or child escaped without a cut or bruise of some sort. Then ensued a wild scramble for the exits on the part of those able to walk. The steps on the eastbound car rear exit were broken off. Not noticing this, the crowds rushed from the platform, only to fall to the street level, while those behind piled on top of the first ones to gain the ground. Many sustained bruises in this way, and in their semi-dazed condition it added to the terror of the already badly frightened.

Dr. Henry Burdono, Dearborn, was the first physician on the scene. For half an hour he worked alone to ease the suffering of the victims. The next to arrive were three doctors and two sisters from St. Joseph's retreat, Dearborn. They brought with them baskets full of bandages and medications. Following them shortly arrived doctors on D. U. R. cars and police ambulances. It was after 7 o'clock before the last of the injured had been housed for the night.

Mr. Stearns' home, the old Duffield estate, as it is known in that vicinity, was the temporary hospital. Its floors walls and even ceilings are splashed with blood. From basement to garret the injured lay on beds, on floors and street car seats, while the women of the household and women from neighboring farm houses tended them as best they could.

DEARBORN RESIDENTS RUSH TO THE WRECK

Dearborn, July 31.—As soon as it became known in Dearborn that a serious wreck had occurred almost everywhere started for the wreck. Automobiles and carriages were placed in service and within 15 minutes after the accident there were fully 500 persons at the scene.

A westbound Ann Arbor car arrived a few minutes after the accident, and many of the injured were put aboard the car, which was rushed back to the Michigan avenue barns. Police ambulances met the car and rushed the injured to the hospitals. There were fully 1,500 persons at the car-barns and the police had a hard time in looking after the crowd.

A large canvas was put over the front of the westbound car to prevent pictures of the wrecked car being taken, but many persons had secured pictures before the wrecker arrived.

LAND CULTIVATION MEANS IMPROVED HEALTH, SAYS DR. EVANS; A FEW REASONS

Chicago, Ill., July 31.—Dr. W. A. Evans, former commissioner of health for the City of Chicago, and a member of the board of control of the National Irrigation Congress, which has its nineteenth annual meeting here Dec. 5 to 9 this year, is greatly interested in the reclamation of lands and has analyzed the unoccupied land situation, swamp and arid, as it relates to the national health and to the food supply and the elements which rule the prices thereof. He says:

"The irrigation of dry lands and the drainage of wet lands are health questions as well as economic questions. For it is not healthy for human beings to live one thousand or more to the acre, as they live in our cities. They cannot get their share of sunshine or air. With them there is no proper balance between animal and vegetable life and this lack of balance is always prejudicial to their welfare. They become unhealthy and discontented and every health officer is interested in the movements that offer out-of-doors opportunities for the dwellers in cities.

"In time our millions of unoccupied acres will have been put to use. When this has been done, and the now unused acres no longer act as safety valves for our cities, we should have learned the science and art of city life, something we do not know now. Cities with us now are great breeders of disease and discontent. Eventually we will learn the proper spirit of them. There will be greater freedom of the individual through limitation of his selfish liberties, more planning, more cooperation, more co-pleasure. Until then health officers will be for decentralization.

"Something is wrong when wheat is piled high in one locality and the people of another are without bread. Our transportation, icing and storage industries are now so developed that supply and demand work uniformly over all parts of the country. The surplus of the summer is carried over to the lean days of the winter and so seasons as well as space as factors in supply and demand have been eliminated.

"When we come to people the evenness stops. There are acres where fifteen hundred people live; there are other parts of the country in which in one hundred square miles there will be but few human beings. The people have not piled up in the one because they wanted to. They had to, or thought they did, which amounts to the same thing. They have not left the other vacant because they wanted to. They thought they had to. They thought the land would not support life. Paradoxically, this land is the most fertile in the world. The nourishment is there to support more life than any other land will support. "All the fertility in the world counts for nothing if the water to dissolve it is not just right.

"Since time began the wind and weather have worn the rocks. The crumbling shale is the fertility of the soil. Each rain dissolves some of this richness and the solutions made are taken up by vegetable roots and built into leaves, flowers and fruits. The stream that runs muddy to the ocean robs the soil in a wild riot of waste. "It is different in the arid regions. Here nature is found in an economical mood. Here the rocks have added their riches to the soils since the world began and there has been little loss. Here is nature leading the conservation way—nature's great savings bank. Nor does the reign of reason stop when water is put upon the soil, because, when this is wisely done, the fertility put in solution is proportionate to the needs of useful plants, and the run-off is low in soil chemicals.

"Where the lands are in swamp areas the process is different but the results are the same. The fertility of the hills put into solution has spread out over the swamps. Some of the hills have been deposited there. Plants have sprung up wildly. They have changed the character of the soil content. They have nitrid (CMFWYP) tent. They have drawn nitrogen and other nourishment from the aid and added it to the soil. The rich waters have not run away, but, stagnant on the soil, have constantly enriched it. To drain this soil is to make it possible to use resources which have been useless until now. More than this, the relation of water to these lands can be so manipulated that the soils will be kept fertile.

"From the health standpoint swamp lands undrained are of more consequence than negative factors. They serve as spreading foci for disease so that they are not only unprofitable themselves, but radiate a pall of inefficiency on those who live on nearby lands.

"Waste areas of land put under cultivation make possible a greater food supply. One of the most earnest contentions of the medical world is that there are many diseases which are directly influenced by the high price of food or a scarcity of it. A number of years ago an Englishman plotted a curve showing the range in the price of wheat and added to it a curve of consumption. The two curves ran suggestively near parallel. He who increases the quantity of food or lowers its price is a great conservator of health and life."

was needless delay in sending medical assistance to the Dearborn wreck is absolutely unfounded. Every effort possible was made to care for injured. Dr. Bardeno, of Dearborn, was first on scene and was followed by an ambulance from Detroit. It is not true that the company's first efforts were to take care of the wrecked cars; instead of that, the wrecking car from Ypsilanti picked up Dr. Marker and three assistants from the Wayne County House at Eloise, and took them to the scene. These were followed by sisters from the Dearborn Retreat, who came by carriages. As soon as doctors gave first aid to injured, they were placed in a special car and brought to Michigan car house, where ambulances met them. Company's reports from the doctors give list of injured receiving medical attendance as twenty-three.

THREE COPS HOLD ONE GIRL

Succeeds in Stabbing One Before Placed in Strait-Jacket.

Battle Creek, Mich., July 31.—For fully half an hour three patrolmen battled with a young woman, Edna Work, who had gone violently insane and before she could be placed in a strait-jacket she had stabbed Patrolman Sidney Godsmark in the left forearm, causing a deep gash.

The girl, living with her stepfather, L. F. Hinchman, became demented without warning and the family fled from the house, calling the police. Patrolmen Godsmark, Patterson and Eckler were held at bay by the flourishing of a pair of long shears until Godsmark made a break and was wounded. Unable to hold the girl, the patrolman had to wait until a strait-jacket could be secured.

BOY HORSE THIEVES AT LARGE

Stolen Horses and a Boat Are Charged Against Them.

Lansing, Mich., July 31.—While local officers were searching the woods and cornfields west of the city for two alleged horse thieves, supposed to be Freddie Sweet and his companion of Hillsdale, a boat was stolen at Waverly park by the same two lads, it is supposed. The boat was found at Dimondale, where two more horses and a buggy and harness were stolen. One horse returned alone to Dimondale.

The thieves are still at large. It has developed that a horse hired last Tuesday from a local liveryman and found tied on the streets next morning was secured by Freddie Sweet and a boy companion, Jay Porter.

DANGEROUS THIEF AT 14

Milwaukee Police Have Grand Rapids Boy Under Arrest.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 31.—Howard Minnola, alias Campbell, alias Schwartz, is under arrest here on a charge of stealing a purse from a woman. Howard is only fourteen years of age, and wears short trousers. His innocence is an asset of one of the cleverest juvenile offenders the police have had to deal with in a great many years.

After his arrest he was taken to the Central police station, where he gave several names. He told the police that his home was in Grand Rapids, Mich., and that he has been in Milwaukee one week, arriving here last Saturday from Chicago.

BEST FOR MANY YEARS

Outlook for Fruit of All Kinds in Western Michigan

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 31.—The Grand Rapids Fruit Growers' association, in a formal statement, announces that the fruit crop conditions for western Michigan this fall are better than for many years past.

A large and healthy crop of peaches is prophesied, plums will be a light crop and an exceptionally large crop of Dutchess apples are now ready for market. Grapes promise a full crop, as do peaches.

Saved Himself by Presence of Mind
Kalamazoo, Mich., July 31.—Hit by an automobile and knocked to the pavement, Jerry Lillian, an aged resident of the city, saved himself from being crushed under the machine by catching hold of the front axle. He was dragged along on the pavement until the machine was stopped. While badly hurt it is not believed his injuries will prove fatal.

Christening Ends in Free Fight.
Houghton, Mich., July 31.—The christening of the two-week-old son of John Drasich at Franklin, ended in a free fight in which forty miners engaged with shotguns and bottles. Twenty were more or less seriously injured, but none will die. Thirteen arrests were made and warrants for ten more issued.

Dies from Lockjaw.

Port Huron, Mich., July 31.—Grant Thompson, aged nineteen years, of Yale, died from lockjaw. About a week ago young Thompson tripped and fell on a piece of wood, inflicting a small wound. His condition was thought to be improving until the tetanus germ got in its work, causing his death.

How We Live.

The only right is that which allows man's individuality to expand, and the only wrong is that which contracts it—we live in the measure that we voice ourselves, and we but linger when self-expression atrophies and dies.

LAWS FOR SUMMER RESORTERS ADOPTED BY BOARD OF HEALTH conditions at our resorts, the number of cases of typhoid fever accredited to resort life each season, would be astonishing. Many of the outbreaks of typhoid fever in the cities are definitely traced back to insanitary summer resorts.

It is the duty of the proprietors of these places to maintain such a condition of sanitation as to be unquestioned. The people generally are inquiring about the healthfulness of this or that resort. When that question comes to this department, as it very frequently does, we report to the inquirer the advantages and disadvantages from the standpoint of public health. It is our policy to measure the advantages by the degree to which the sanitary regulations are being observed. There reports are not always what the proprietors would like them to be, but we have rather carefully compiled data upon these points for each of the important resorts in the state, and in the interest of the public we give the report.

Here are some rules adopted by the State Board of Health with reference to resort sanitation which are ordered to be observed by cottagers and visitors at summer resorts.

IT'S VERY QUAIN.

Women This Summer In Old Fashioned Attire.

JUST LIKE GRANDMA'S FROCK.

Did you ever have the good fortune to look over an edition of Godey's Lady's Book, that fashion authority of antebellum days? Well, if you have you will recognize features of some of the summer gowns as reproductions of these old frocks with a few modern touches.

For instance, the dress illustrated of old timey patterned black and green foulard. The modern touch here is the tucked sleeves and the cords about the waist line which this season finish many of the best gowns at this point. The reticule of embroidered linen is another quaint feature.

Not a Boudoir Cap.

What would you think of a hat made from a bit of flowered silk, some chiffon and a frill of lace? How becoming.

SOMETHING FETTERING IN HEADGEAR.

ing and attractive are these materials used in this combination may be seen in the picture.

The little piece of frivolity is not a boudoir cap, as one might suppose, but one of the latest screams in the way of summer headgear. The rosette is also made of the chiffon roses.

Closets.

Where there is no water or sewer system, the Dry Earth Closet should be installed. The contents of the same should be removed and buried at least once a month during the resort season, and oftener, if necessary Garbage.

A garbage can or barrel with tight-fitting cover should be used at every cottage, and the contents must be removed two or three times a week and buried at least one foot underground. Throwing tin cans or bottles on the beach or on the grounds is prohibited. A covered barrel or box should be placed at the rear of each cottage for receiving such refuse, which should be removed to some suitable place and buried as often as may be found necessary.

Cleaning fish upon the beach is strictly prohibited. It should be done back and away from the cottage and the refuse immediately buried.

Refuse from lunch counters, lemonade stands, pavilions and other concessions must be put in tightly covered cans or boxes, removed daily and buried.

Throwing refuse of any kind into the lake is strictly forbidden.

It is the duty of the Local Health Officers to enforce these rules. It is the duty, under penalty, of the property owners and tenants to comply with them. Violations of these rules should be reported to the Local Board of Health. In the event that immediate correction of insanitary conditions be neglected, the matter should then be referred to the State Board of Health. This announcement is sent out in the interest of the public who may be contemplating an outing.

The advice is that you make a preliminary investigation of the conditions at the place you contemplate visiting. Know that the conditions are right, and at the same time be prepared, yourself, to observe to the detail, the regulations of the location.

A great many cases of typhoid will be prevented by proper consideration of these points this season.

There is no place in the State where it is more important to "Swat the Flies" and "Boil the Water" than at the Summer Resorts.

The Department furnishes illustrated posters giving instructions for resuscitating the drowned. These can be secured free by request to the Secretary.

Secretary.

NIP AND TUCK.

Mistress—I must say, Mary Ann, I find you very hard to get along with. The Cook—I was about to say the same of you, mum.

Scientific Management.

John Trower, the Philadelphia caterer who, born a slave, died a millionaire, was once asked by a reporter to what quality he imputed his success. "I impute my success," said Mr. Trower, smiling, "not to hard work, but to the avoidance of hard work. By that I mean, of course, that I devoted myself to the executive side of my business. I never did what I could get some one else to do for me. I was like the young man from the Rittenhouse Club. A young man from the Rittenhouse Club, his top hat tilted and his hands in his pockets, was sauntering down Walnut street when he met a youth who was distributing circulars. The youth extended a circular to the clubman, but the clubman, without taking his hands from his pockets, said politely: 'Thank you, my friend, but you will be good enough to throw it on the sidewalk yourself!'"

Wanted the Day to Himself.
Nothing makes us quite so weary as these elaborate, gotten-up-ahead-of-time jokes that some people stage and spring with such a dramatic effect. Our Washington correspondent told us of one of these, the other day. A man went into the patent office, last week, and said he wanted a copyright. They steered him to the right department, and he opened up like this: "This is Saturday, is it not? Thank you. I understand that you will not issue a copyright on Sunday?" "No, sir. That is the rule." "But you will issue a copyright on any other day of the week?" "Yes, sir." "I'm so glad. I want to get Friday copyrighted. It's my birthday, and I don't want any other fellows using it. How much will it cost?"

Modern Teachers Criticized.
Our educators are owl-wise, our teachers are pedants and all their ambition is the turning out of smooth, well-polished philistines. It is certainly unfortunate that the favored type of superintendent of our public education should be such a hopeless philistine, possessed of all the conceit of the mediocre business man. Routine is his ideal. Originality is spurned and suppressed—Dr. Boris Sids.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable.

For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

ATTRACTIVE WRAPS.

Summer Garments of Lovely Embroidered Chiffons.

A PRETTY WRAP FROM PARIS.

This beautiful model wrap is a production emanating from a famous Parisian workshop. The home dressmaker, however, need have no fear in copying the exquisite creation in a less elaborate fashion.

The materials used in the wrap illustrated are chiffon cloth, and the ornamentation is carried out in fine silk braid and bead embroideries. The novel feature is the cape, which falls from the back, and the draped sleeves are another attraction.

Camp Suggestions.

A suggestion for a camp refrigerator is to have a barrel sunk into the ground a convenient distance from the camp. In this the supplies for the chafing dish should be kept—the canned things that have been opened and the evaporated milk.

Picnic hampers for carrying are really a great convenience, though the space is so fully taken up by the utensils that the provender usually has to be carried separately.

These hampers are to be had in all sizes. Instead of taking china plates to the camp, which are always cumbersome, those of wood fiber, which are sold in the stores for 5 cents a dozen, make a satisfactory substitute. Of the same class are heavy paper plates made in a half dozen layers each, these being removed by simply pulling them off. Both the wood and paper plates are very light in weight and are thrown away after being used.

Neckwear Novelty.

It is hard to keep away from the subject of neckwear this season, for it is so fascinatingly pretty and becoming. Among the many novelties is the combination fichu and collar arrangement that covers the entire bodice. These dainty affairs are made up in a variety of materials—organdie, sheer lawn and silk—and their success depends upon the fineness of the fabric employed.

The collar illustrated is a smart model carried out in white batiste and embroidered with eyelet holes, French dots and dainty floral designs at the corners. Such a fichu in the shops is very expensive, but the needlewoman may own one with nothing but time to her credit.

Complimenting the Modern Girl.

The girl of today is extremely impatient of compliments which outrun her own estimate of herself. On the other hand, she loves to be told she is a good golfer or a fine shot or a good companion. The focus seems to have shifted from her appearance to her capacities, which is a healthy thing.

NORMALS MAKE A DASHING FINISH WITH ENGINEERS

WIN LAST GAME BY SCORE OF 11 TO 1; NO GAMES LOST THIS SUMMER.

Coach Hick's summer school team finished a successful season Saturday by handing the U. of M. Engineers the short end of an 11 to 1 score.

players than any other man on the team.

Of the summer squad, Shafer, Simpson, Wolf, Rynearson, McMillan, Doyle and Culver will be in school next year. These men with Capt. Don Bell will form a good nucleus for the 1912 team. The success of this year's strong combination points to Coach Hicks, who has shown ability. During Coach Hicks' short stay here, he has linked about him a circle of close friends and it was with deep regret that the boys bid their coach good bye. At the close of Saturday's game Coach Hicks left for a week's visit with his parents in Eaton Rapids before leaving for the east where he will coach athletics in the Massachusetts Agricultural college next year.

The summer school record has been a good one. Not a game has been

CAPT. JENNINGS.

Simpson kept the Ann Arbor boys' eight hits well scattered, their lone score coming in the eighth, on a lucky three-bagger and a single, after two men were out.

Hicks' run-getters got after Cook whenever hits meant runs, making their 13 safeties all count. As usual the summer boys had their one fat inning, this time saving up until the eighth, when they cut loose with enough hits, coupled with good base running, to make the spectators feel dizzy, watching the parade across the plate. Saturday's game gives the Normal a clean record for the season. They have beaten the city team once, Northville twice and the U. of M. Ineligibles, and Engineers once each.

Simpson, who has pitched all the games, has worked like a veteran. In no game has he been in danger, but always showing up especially strong when men are on bases.

Simpson returns next year and will no doubt be used regularly in the box.

Much of Simpson's good work is accounted for by the steady coaching of Shafer behind the bat. Shafer is without a doubt the best backstop the Normal has had in years. Always steady, possessing a strong arm, with a sure whip and with a batting eye that some big leaguers could envy, he causes more trouble for opposing lost during the hot season and this fact points to a strong team for the next college season since several of the present players will return. Perhaps the man who will be missed most will be Captain Jennings. Jennings holds the college record for captainships having led the teachers to more victories than any other single player. Jennings was first elected captain in 1909 and has cared for the center and left gardens in remarkable fashion during the three seasons. In 1908 the star left fielder made his debut in Normal athletic circles and played left field with a clean record excepting one error. In the three years since and during which time he has captained the team he has only three errors charged against him. During the past season his batting record was .302 and in the summer school he was away in the lead with an average of .678.

Following are the results of games played during the summer season which closed with the U. of M. game Saturday.

July 1—City Team, 3; Normal, 7.
July 8—Northville, 4; Normal, 7.
July 15—U. of M. Ineligibles, 4; Normal, 10.
July 26—Northville, 4; Normal, 12.
July 29—U. of M. Engineers, 1; Normal, 11.

TRIPLE PLAY UNASSISTED.

Carlisle Joins Select Band of Five Other Players.

Walter Carlisle, center fielder of the Vernon club of the Pacific Coast league, made the sixth unassisted triple play recorded in organized baseball July 19 against Los Angeles in a game won by Vernon at 5 to 4.

In the sixth inning, with the score tied, Moore and Metzger of Los Angeles walked. Akin, third baseman for Los Angeles, then hit the first ball Stewart pitched low over the second base for what looked like a clean single. Moore and Metzger both got off to a hit and run signal, but Carlisle, playing close in, came forward like a flash and picked the ball off his shoe tops. His ungloved hand hit the ball off his foot, and when he recovered both base runners, counting Akin's drive a sure safety, had passed the second station. Carlisle raced to second and touched the bag while Moore was well on the way to the plate, then trotted to first, returning Metzger.

The unassisted triple plays on record are:
Paul Hines of Providence at Providence, 1878; Harry O'Hagan of Rochester at Jersey City, 1902; Larry Schaffey of Portland at Portland, Ore., 1904; Murch of Manchester at New Bedford, 1906; Neal Ball of Cleveland at Cleveland, 1909; Walter Carlisle of Vernon at Los Angeles, 1911.

JOE JACKSON TELLS GOOD ONE ON AN UMPIRE.

Joe Jackson, the Cleveland star, tells this one on how an umpire decided a championship game between two rival South Carolina towns.

"I was playing with Greens against Buffalo," said Joe. "We had Buffalo beaten 10 to 5, but they scored three runs in the last of the ninth and had three men on bases with none out. 'The Buffalo catcher hit a ball that seemed to travel about a mile. It fell foul by two or three feet, but the umpire called it fair, and four runs scored. 'We kicked on the decision. The umpire said, 'Well, I don't want to see my home town boys lose, and I don't want to cheat Greens, so I'll compromise and call it a double.' That just beat our team."

LUDERUS BATTING SENSATION

Philadelphia National First Baseman Now Walloping Ball at Great Rate.

Fred Luderus, the Philadelphia brilliant first baseman, is the batting sensation of the National league this season. He really ranks third among the old league batsmen, Clarke and Wagner only preceding him. In the matter of long hits he has created a class for himself. Fourteen times he has smashed the ball for home runs this year. On three different occasions he has twice put the ball outside of the Philadelphia's grounds in one game, once cleaning the bases with such a hit. His recent feat of defeating Pittsburg by two home runs, the winning tally being made with two out in

FRED LUDERUS, PHILLIE'S HARD HITTING FIRST BASEMAN.

Released to the Philadelphia management by the Chicago club when the Phillies were sorely in need of a man to supplant the injured Bransfield last year, Luderus gave promise from the first of a hitting ability that has placed him in the class of such long distance clouters of the past who have played first base as Adrian Anson, Dan Brouthers, Dave Orr, Charley Comiskey and Tom Tucker. Luderus is a natural hitter, a born batter. His eye is keen and his swing true.

STOVALL MAKING BIG HIT.

Naps' Young Leader Proving He Knows How to Handle Major League Team.

The success of George Stovall as manager of the Cleveland proves that a man doesn't have to own a big reputation to handle a ball team successfully. Stovall assumed the task when Deacon James McGuire cried quits, and it was understood that the former would remain at the helm until the club could secure a competent manager. Stovall, with a surprising knowledge of baseball, quickly made important changes in the makeup of the Cleveland and developed several young players who simply needed experience. With a chance to land the team in the first division Stovall has become a managerial fixture and is receiving fulsome praise from the very persons who poked fun at him when he succeeded McGuire. Cleveland fans as a result are predicting great things for Stovall next year.

Bush Out For Record.

Owen Bush of Detroit will probably make a new record this year for runs scored. He is a good waiter and gets on often and is then followed by Ty Cobb and Sam Crawford, so the reason he scores so often can be seen without the aid of a telescope.

London, July 31. — The Prince of Wales begins his duties as midshipman today on board H. M. S. Pindustan, which is now lying at Portsmouth. The Pindustan is a battleship of the King Edward VII class, which, with the exception of the Nelson and the Agamemnon, is the most powerful type of the pre-dreadnought fighting ship.

SNAKE CAUSES BOY'S DEATH

Makes Him Drop Gun, Which Explodes and Kills Him.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., July 31. — George W. Geiger, aged sixteen, met death by the accidental discharge of his shotgun while hunting squirrels. Young Geiger was standing on a log watching for a squirrel. A large black snake crawled out of a hole in the log, and passed over his feet, and in his excitement he dropped his gun.

The hammers struck the log and exploded the shells, sending both loads of shot through the boy's abdomen.

What Big Jars Are For.

"Why, that's what big earthen jars are made for!" asserted the artist man. "I set three or four flimsy wastebaskets afire before I found this way out of trouble. The man in the store said it was to put a big palm or rubber plant in, but I knew better. I lugged it home just as it was, and since then I've taken solid comfort. I can drop half burned matches into it or knock my pipe ashes out, no matter if there is a lot of scribble paper and old letters in it. They may smolder, but they can't do any harm before I find it out. And the janitor is willing to handle it with care, because what I drop into it stays until he empties it. The pencil sharpenings and charcoal dust and the like don't leak out and make a mess on the rug, nor do they stick to the sides and bottom of the jar and refuse to come out when he turns it upside down to empty it, as they always did with every wastebasket I've owned. Give me my big dark jardiniere and keep all your elaborate, ribbon trimmed wicker fire traps to give to fellows that don't smoke."

Overcrowding in New York.

There is shocking overcrowding of people in New York. Last year, according to the report of the New York city commission on congestion of population about one-third of the city's population were living at a density of more than 600 to the acre. There are blocks where the density rises to 750 to the acre. Under the present law six story tenements are permitted to have density of 1,300 to the acre. Many rooms in Manhattan, Brooklyn and the Bronx were found to contain from three of five persons.

And Portage not only affords conditions for an ideal outing but conditions are afforded for an exceedingly profitable investment as well. Not a week passes during the vacation months and for periods, not a day passes that someone does not make application to cottage owners at Portage for cottages that cannot be supplied.
